THE EDITOR'S CHAIR.

HOW THINGS LOOK FROM OUR STAND POINT.

The Opinion of The Caucasian and the Opinion of others which we Can Endorse on the Various Topics of the Day.

A Press Dispatch from Columbia, S. C., dated January 23rd, to the American Press Association, says:

"The executive committee of the Farmers Association of S. C., a political organization, which has developed great strength within the past two years has issued an address to the Democrats of the State charging that element of the party now governing the State with gross mismanagement, extravagance and inefficiency, and declaring that the State never has had a Republican form of government, but has been dominated and ruled by an 'aristocratic oligarchy.' A call has been issued for a convention of Democratic farmers to meet in this city on May 27th, to nominate a complete State ticket."

We sincerely hope that this is a mistake, and at all events that the "Farmers' Association" referred to is not the State Alliance. If this is so, they are traitors to the principles of the organization they claim to represent. The mission of the Alliance is not to inaugurate new political movements, but to fight for the correction of existing wrongs and iniquities through the party lines as already drawn. In short, the existence of the organization is an appeal to Congress to relieve the burdens of the producer, the farmer and laborer,—to stop bleeding the many for the enrichment of the few. The politician is exultant over the folly of the South Carolina movement and says, "I told you so,' that politics will be the death of the Alliance." But we regret the movement not only as a citizen but as a member of the organization. Yes, such folly and unwisdom (if it continues) means the death of the Alliance, but a death, like Samson's, the Democratic party will die with it. We hope to see better judgment prevail in this and other States. What can a Governor or a State Legislature do to ameliorate the tariff iniquity or improve the financial condition of the country by a better banking system? Nothing! The Legislature is nothing more than a police court, and the Governor is nothing more than the Mayor of the State But suppose South Carolina had a farmers' Legislature (and if we are not mistaken, a majority of its members are now farmers) would it not disappoint the people as ours did last year? We have no sympathy with any one class that desires to rule. Our legislature should have representatives from every trade, class and profession in proportion to the property and numbers of all. In the South the farmers predominate, therefore the majority of the Legislature should be farmers. But that is neither here nor there, relief must come through Congress. We must send men who cannot be influenced by the lobbyists of rich men and monopolies. A majority of the members of Congress today are the representatives of the people who are suffering from unjust laws, and if they were true to their constituents the Farmers' Alliance would never have been born. Then let the Alliance fight through the primaries, up through the convention, and on through the election, for a man, whether doctor, farmer, lawyer or merchant, who has ability and known to be true as steel. If this were done in every congressional district, the next Congress would be a revelation. Like Zeb Vance, every member from such districts would carry on his forehead the label of an honest man, and the corruptionists would dare not approach him. Then the howling would come from the money leaches—the life-blood suckers of the South—a howl at justice to which they are strangers That day must soon come, or direful trouble will be the result.

A citizen calls attention to the advantages that accrue from manufacturing, and we join most heartily in advocating the establishment of such industries among us. We cannot prosper as we ought unless we make something to sell. We are consumers and not producers. That should be reversed, and we should engage in manufacturing so as to give employment to our laborers, and obtain for them an income from the consumers of the articles they shall make.—News and Observer.

Raleigh is determined to be an educational centre. The excellent and far famed institutions, St. Mary's School and Peace Institute, are already there, Trinity College is going, and now the wide-awake Raleighites are taking very business-like steps towards securing the Baptist Female University. We will soon speak of the classic shades of the City of Oaks.

"Why compel the people to pay interest on Government credit through the bank, when such credit could be extended direct to the people without interest?"—Calhoun.

THE FINEST NORTH CAROLINA POEM.

[Winston Sentinel.

The Statesville Landmark asks who wrote the poem entitled "The Star of Bethlehem" and says it is generally credited to Major Thos. N. Crumpler, of Ashe county, who studied law under Judge Pearson, entered the Confederate army about the time he was admitted to the bar and fell in a cavalry charge at Willis' Creek, below Richmond, during the Seven Days' Fight, in 1862. The credit is right. A year or two ago the Sentinel reprinted the poem at the request of Capt. D. P. Mast, of Winston. Capt. Mast was a friend to Major Crumpler and once had the original manuscript of the poem in his possession. There is no doubt that Maj. Crumpler wrote it. It is a poem, as the Landmark observes, of "very great merit" and we think is far superior to any poem ever written by a native of North Carolina. For the benefit of our readers who do not recollect it we reprint it again:

"And God said, let there be light,
and there was light."

When first Jehovah's high command
Bade Earth to her existence leap,
Thick darkness lay o'er all the land
And on the bosom of the deep.

God spake; and o'er the young earth flashed,
The glorious light, unknown before;
And the bright waves of ocean flashed
Their sun-dyed jewels on the shore.

Thus when sin's heavy mantle lay
Like night, and o'er the earth unfurled,
Shut out the light of heaven's bright day,
And dimmed and veiled the fallen world—

God loved; and lo! a beauteous gem
Rose glittering on the brow of night,
Hope's star—the Star of Bethlehem,
And gave all nations life and light.

Lord, as we drive o'er life's dark wave
Let mercy's light be on our path!
Save us, Thy erring children save,
From the red lightnings of Thy wrath!

The Raleigh correspondent of the Wilmington Messenger says:

Your correspondent had an interview with Major Finger, State Superintendent of Public Instruction. Maj. Finger says there are 580,000 persons between the school ages of six and twenty-one. Of these three-fifths are white and two-fifths colored. Fifty-eight per cent. of this school population attends the public schools. The attendance is in very nearly the same proportion for both races. The colored attendace is not quite so large relatively. There will be a new school census in most of the counties which are being depleted by the negro exodus. Where no census is taken a careful estimate will be made.

A SAMPSONIAN ABROAD.

HE TELLS OF HIS SURROUNDINGS.

The Manners and Customs of a Strange People.

FARMING WITHOUT HORSE AND PLOW.

(Special to THE CAUCASIAN.)

LAGOS, WEST AFRICA, Nov. 4th, 1889.

Mr. Marion Butler,
Editor Caucasian,

Dear Friend—We were delighted to receive a letter from you recently informing us that THE CAUCASIAN would make weekly visits to us in Lagos. It is pleasant to know that one is remembered by friends at home when he is far away in a strange land. We wish to return thanks to that unknown Sampson friend who so kindly paid for and had THE CAUCASIAN sent to us. My mind often runs back to my native county, the scenes of my childhood, the friends of my boyhood, the companions of soldier days and to my faithful co-workers in the Master's vineyard. But I wandering from the line on which you asked me to drop you a line, viz: "Something about my surroundings."

Well to begin with we are surrounded by water. The city of Lagos in which I live is on an island, about six miles long and two miles wide on the west coast of Africa, in a lagoon or bay called by Englishmen Cradoo but by natives Ausa. It has a population of near 50,000, of which 6,000 are christians and adherents to christianity and the rest are Mohamadans and Pagans. Lagos is a colony of Great Britain, by whom its civil officers are appointed and a standing army is kept. The commander of the troops resides just across the street from us, the colonial surgeon, a square above us on the same side of the street, the governor on the street in front of us, the marine and other officers not far away. These gentlemen are all clever, and have put us under personal obligation by many kindnesses. We are more impressed with the glory of England as we learn of its doings and enjoy its protection. Of course England is not entirely unselfish in all she does here, for the exports and imports of Lagos are many millions a year and nearly all of its trade is with England. Lagos is called the Liverpool of West Africa because of its immense shipping trade. Its leading exports are berry-seed, groundnuts, palm kernels, palm oil and ivory.

Many of the people of Lagos and other African cities live by trading, farming, &c. They farm and do everything else as differently from what people at home do as you can well imagine The tools of a farmer are an axe, bill-hook and hoe. The axe with a blade three inches wide is used for cutting down trees. I did not recognize one as an axe. If I had been looking for an axe and come across one I should not have picked it up. I did not believe it was one. A bill-hook is used for cutting bushes and an oval hoe with a a handle two feet long is used for digging up the soil. Ploughs are entirely unknown and it has never occurred to a native that a horse or an ox could in any way be used about a farm. Oxen are never employed for labor, and horses, except immediately in the city of Lagos, are used only for the saddle. Some of the farms of Africa are ten and even twenty miles from the cities, but the crops that are grown are brought in on the heads of the people. In a trip I made to the interior, twenty-six persons were along and all the baggage was carried on the head. Traders carry their goods in this way.

A woman with her babe strapped to her back will carry over two hundred pounds on her head with apparent ease. It is not considered reputable for a woman to labor on the farm, but in the pursuit of their business as traders they bring the produce which they have bought from the farms to the market. Many women make a living by selling fire-wood, which they sometimes take to the city, a distance of six or eight miles on their heads. Some gather large leaves which they sell to the market women for wrapping paper. The other employments of women are housework, spinning (men do the weaving) washing, soap-making, and the manufacture of earthenware.

I am making my letter too long. There are many strange things about this people but the strangest is their religion, about which I have not time to write. The sadest is they are without God and without hope. I am within one hour's travel of one hundred thousand people who are in gross dardness—lost. I am here to tell them the only way to salvation. I have preached to three hundred of them at once, and they listened attentively.

Always glad to hear from you or any of my friends. We are all quite well. I am, &c.,

Very truly,
C. C. NEWTON.

CAPT. FAISON'S SPEECH

To the Sampson Light Infantry.

Capt. W. L. Faison in turning over the command of the Sampson Light Infantry on the 17th instant to the new captain, W. A. Johnson, said:

FELLOW-SOLDIERS—During the winter of 1881 and '2, a few of you who are here to-day as active members, together with a number of others, who have retired from the service, determined to raise a military company, and on the 28th of February, 1882, you met for organization, and honored me with the captancy of the company. Since then, at each election, I have been honored with the unanimous vote of the company—an honor which I assure you has been highly appreciated, and which will be appreciated the more as I grow older and look back upon the motives which prompted the organization and review the struggles through which we had to pass; and now that I am to leave you as your commanding officer allow me to thank you for all the honors conferred upon me, and more especially for your great respect, confidence and universal obedience. I do not leave you as captain of the company from choice. but reluctantly—being forced to do so by reasons of business relations which deprive me of the time and opportunity to give the company that attention that is needed to make it prosperous, and an honor to the State Guard. I hope each member appreciates the motives that have directed this step, and will feel that I bear the same attachments to the company as a retired officer that I did while on active duty.

I congratulate the company upon the election of Mr. W. A. Johnson as Captain of the company, and bespeak for him the kindness and respect due him as your captain and feel assured that with your earnest desire and co-operation for the good of the company that he will fill the position with honor and credit, and that the Sampson Light Infantry will live as an honor to Sampson county and as a credit to the State Guard.

* * * * * *

Then let us commence anew, with the determination that we will do our whole duty, that we will attend all drills and parades and that we will recognize only as members of the company such members as are devoted to the interests of the company, and are impressed with the fact that every effort to build up the company depends upon the individual effort of each member.

* * * * * *

Let nothing except sickness keep you away from your regular drills, and feel under obligations equally as much to attend all special drills.

* * * * * *

A good soldier is always characterized by his interest in his company and the promptness with which he obeys orders.

* * * * * *

The only way to make the company successful and pleasant is to place it upon a high plane of action, and banish from your ranks any man who dare detract from its honor. * * *

The ladies have presented you with a beautiful banner. Cherish it as emblamatic of their purity and devotion to right and duty and defend it against insult and dishonor as you would defend them against insult and injury Let it remind you that they appreciate your services, and look to you for protection against wrong and oppression.

I now formally take leave of you as Captain of the company and ask the privilege of taking the track of elboy when my duties will so permit and to ask the further privilege of giving the company any further assistance in my power. You are now placed under command of Captain W. A. Johnson. (Applause.)

Nowadays the humblest Russian peasant can be as influenzial as the Czar,—Binghampton Republican.

Our Farmers' Column.

SOMETHING INTERESTING TO THOSE WHO TILL THE SOIL.

"There is no material progress that is well based and permanent without agricultural progress."

Remedy for Hog Cholera.

(Special Cor. Caucasian.)

The following is said to be a certain remedy for hog cholera, and hope some brother farmer will give it a trial: Take the bark of wild cherry, dry it in the sun or by the fire, then boil it to a strong tea. and feed it in slops to the hogs. It is also said to be a preventive of the fatal epidemic. C.

Better Than Guano.

Last fall we offered THE CAUCASIAN one year as a premium for the best receipt for home-made fertilizers, premium to be awarde by the committee on agriculture department at Sampson Fair. The committee decided in favor of Mr. J. L. Powell. Below we give the ingredients and his plan of preparation. Take 7 loads (single ox loads) pulverized mud.

5 bushels oak ashes.
5 bushels cotton seed.
5 loads stable manure—
Or any other quantity in the same proportion and make into a compost heap, by spreading successive layers of the various materials in the order named. If the weather is dry let the heap stand for 4 days, when it will be ready for use; if wet 2 or 3 days will answer.

Mr. Powell uses this for cotton and says it pays better than guano.

How to Save Meat in Warm Weather.

Mr. John T. Bellamy, writing the Star from Enfield, N. C., in relation to the loss that so many farmers have sustained this season in failing to "save their bacon," says:

Meat may be saved in very warm weather if, as it is cut out, you have a kettle of boiling brine. Dip each piece of meat in this for about one minute; take it out and lay it aside to cool, and while cooling have a quantity of pulverized nitre (nitrate of potash) dust and sprinkle over the flesh side of each piece about a dessert-spoonful, which will be absorbed by the meat in about half an hour; then pack the meat down, flesh side up, with plenty of fine salt—say one inch deep—all over the meat. In a week or so overhaul and resalt. Years ago I used to put up from 25,000 to 30,000 pounds of meat every winter, and never lost any, or hesitated to kill in warm weather.

First Step of Prosperity.

Extensive preparations are being made to plant larger crops than usual during the coming spring. Our farmers are gradually coming to the conclusion that it is best to raise an abundance of grain and less cotton. The decadence of agriculture is a sure sign of national decay. When farmers prosper the country is prosperous. Every trade and profession is dependent on the farm. The first step towards prosperity is to raise, as far as possible, home supplies, and save to the community the vast outlay hitherto sent to distant States for corn, hay, oats, flour and wheat. Plant corn! Plant corn!—Farmer and Scotish Chief.

Famous Stall-Fed Sampson Beef.

Mr. John F. Garrell has a lot of beautiful stall-fed Sampson county beef cattle at his stall in Front street market. There is no better meat in the world than this famous stall-fed Sampson beef.—Wilmington Review.

If you will look around you and note the most successful farmers in your community, you will find that they are those who raise, to a large extent at least, their own corn and hay and provision crops.—Rural Home.

We pay too little attention to our country roads. The manner in which Southern country roads are worked is a disgrace to civilization.—Rural Home.

THE BEST PLACE.—Hon. W. D. Kelly, the oldest member of Congress, who died recently, said in a speech: "My friends, North Carolina is the most beautiful and richest portion of God's earth upon which my vision or feet have ever rested."

Republicanism means one-man power everywhere. It signifies despotism with absolute disregard of the rights of minorities, or of those of majorities defrauded out of the influence of their numbers. The only text appropriate to this latter-day Republicanism is the Jack Cade doctrine:

The simple plan,
That they should take who have the power,
And they should keep who can.

The case of Wm. E. Christian et al., appellants, vs. the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad Company, et al., before the U. S. Supreme court has been decided in favor of the State. This case is of importance, not only in the amount of money directly involved, but in the amount indirectly involved, and important consitutional questions decided. The State of North Carolina subscribed for $1,066,600 of the capital stock of the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad Company, organized for the purpose of building a railroad from Beaufort to Goldsboro. Christian, a citizen of Virginia, who holds some of the bonds, sued the road for settlement. Judge Bradley delivered the opinion, saying that the case was virtually a suit against North Carolina, which could not be sued.

MR. CLEVELAND AND 1892.

Morrison Munford, editor of the Kansas City Times, called on ex-President Cleveland a few days ago and found him as earnest as ever in the cause of tariff reform and gratified at the interest which the people are taking in the subject. In reply to a suggestion that the Democratic party was looking to Mr Cleveland as its leader in 1892, the ex-President said: "As to that, it is the cause and not personal considerations that should concern us. I am so well situated now that if I consulted my own feelings I would prefer to have some one else take the lead. Men who have elements of leadership develop rapidly, and it is a long time till 1892. It is not a matter of men, but of principles. It would be a pity not to carry forward the work which the party has so grandly inaugurated, and there ought not to be a halt until the ends aimed at are compassed and the people are in full possession of the benefits and blessings which an accumulation of iniquities called into existence by apathy on one side and self-interest on the other have diverted from them. I rejoice in feeling that the Democratic party is the repository of the best principles and purposes; that its ranks teem with the intelligent young manhood of the country; that it enjoys a complete monopoly of every American policy, not merely sectional or time serving."

"The feast of reason and the flow of soul."—Pope's Imitations of Horace. In one of Cicero's letters to his friend Atticus, he quotes a verse from Lucilius, a Roman poet before Horace, that is "fairly equivalent to" Pope's line, according to the learned Rev. W. Lucas Collins, author of a delightful volume on the great Roman orator, lawyer and man of letters. —Dr. T. B. Kingsbury.

The man who is "alone with his thoughts" often is surrounded by the deepest solitude.—Bome Sentinel.

How we admire the man who happens to catch us when we are doing a good deed on the sly!—Atchison Globe.

THE FARMERS AND THE TARIFF.

The farmers demanded a hearing before the Committee on Ways and Means in regard to the tariff. We rejoiced when we saw the announcement. It was exactly what they ought to have done. Day after day, delegation after delegation of farmers ought to have stood before that committee and made the farmers plea for justice—justice to the great agricultural interest of this country at the hands of congress. They should ask for no more, and be content with no less. We were exceedingly glad when the news come that the farmers were moving in that direction and we began to hope that they would thunder so at the gates as to make their demands heard.

But it was a case of the mountain being in labor and a ridiculous little mouse being born.

Mr. Bringham, of Ohio, spoke for the farmers.

He stated that the organization which he represented was composed of every shade of political belief. They differed on the question of protection and free trade, but they were substantially agreed that whatever policy might be adopted for other industries and interests should be applied to agriculture. If the manufacturers were to be protected the farmers should also be protected. Whatever protection should be accorded to agriculture ought to be given. He asked for the imposition of the following duties on farm products: Barley, 15 cents a bushel; beans, 50 cents a bushel; peas, 25 cents a bushel; hops, 12 cents a bushel; potatoes, 25 cents a bushel; hay, $4 a ton; hides 10 per cent. ad valorem; eggs, 5 cents a dozen; apples, 25 cents a bushel. He thought that adequate protection should also be given to raw silk and live animals, but could not give the exact duty that should be imposed.

Such was the burden of his song. If others are protected, save the farmers of this country from competition in barley, in beans, in hops, and hay, and eggs!

The great wheat and corn and cotton and tobacco interests were not once mentioned! Why? Because it is well known that all the tariffs in the world cannot avail them anything. We hope the farmers of this country will repudiate this movement made apparently in their interests and on their behalf. It is a reflection on their intelligence. The suggestions of Mr. Bringham, of Ohio, will probably be adopted by the tariff committee, and thereafter they will claim that they have done for the farmers all that was asked in their name, and that hereafter the agricultural part of the community is estopped from asking that the tariff be reformed. The unclean thing is thus to be saddled, in part, on the backs of the farmers.

Mr. Bringham misrepresented the farmers before Congress. He is a fool, or worse. When protection is given any one industry an injustice is done every other industry. The farmer cannot afford to have the injustice done him for the last quarter of a century partially off set by the pittance above referred to. It is like a man who has been stealing one bushel of corn per day from his neighbor for twenty-five years and when caught agrees to compromise by allowing his neighbor to steal back a peck per day, on the condition that he can continue to his stealings of a bushel per day. The farmer wants justice and not a chance to help steal a little.

Alliance Department.

☞[THE CAUCASIAN was adopted as the official organ of the County Alliances by the County Alliance, January 19th.☜

Brother W. A. Paden, will address the brethren at Goshen Alliance on the 30th, and at Clinton on the 31st of January, and at Mingo Academy February 1st. His address will be to the public first and to the Alliance afterwards.

The Alliance of Illinois has demanded of Congress through one of their Senators, to pass a law allowing the surplus in the Treasury of the United States to be loaned to farmers at 2 per cent. on real estate security, which is double the amount of interest paid by the banks.

To grant this would be partially retributive justice, but still not justice. It would be an effort to paliate a wrong, while a wrong will still being practiced. The justice that the farmer needs is the abolishing of the tyranical laws that wring from him the unnecessary taxes that make the surplus and at the same time make a few men millionairs, thereby giving them the dangerous power of money to yoke our already surfdom necks with more burdens for their individual profit. Yes, let the burdens be removed before applying seductive ointments to our wounds.

The political demagogue is a national as well as a local curse, for he is everywhere periodically. He will soon make his appearance. If you can spot him, be sure to boycot him.

The Raleigh corrospondent of the Wilmington Messenger says:

"The 'bright cutter' trust thought it had the tobacco growers and sellers in a tight place. The result is just the contrary. The Alliance took a hand. As a result cutters will no longer be sorted but will be sold with the fillers. The usual proportion is three for the fillers to one fourth cutters. So the buyers of cutters will have to buy the fillers to get what they want. The trust may find some new way to flank the Alliance.

"Secretary Beddingfield, of Wake, of the State Farmers' Alliance, is the author of the bill against trusts which the last Legislature passed. He said today that he hoped there would be results from the act. So far it had been a dead letter until Judge Armfield this week charged the Durham grand jury in regard to trusts, and particularly the tobacco or cigarette trust. He is the first Judge thus to attack the hated trusts. Mr. Beddingfield said he feared the law would have little effect, as it is a very hard matter to set a net which will catch a trust.

"The fight against jute bagging, so successful this season, will continue without any abatement, it is learned."

Why not boycot the iron ties as well as the jute? There is a very heavy tariff on the ties, eavier than on the majority of other iron articles, which is so, we suppose, just because the farmer uses them.—ED.

Not One in Ten

Of the people you meet from day to day has perfectly pure, healthy blood. The hereditary scrofulous taint afflicts the large majority of people, while many others acquire diseases from impure air, improper food and wrong indulgences. Hence the imperative necessity for a reliable blood purifier like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which eradicates every impurity, and gives to the blood vitality and health. It cures scrofula, rheum, humors, boils, pimples, and all other affections caused by impurities or poisonous germs in the blood. All that is asked for Hood's Sarsaparilla is that it be given a fair trial.

Keep doing, always doing. Wishing, dreaming, intending, mourning, talking, sighing and pining are idle and profitless employments.

Messrs. J. C. Stevenson & Taylor:

GENTLEMEN:—The "Champion Food" you sold us has been given a fair trial, it is a success, and we are glad to add testimony to its worth. When fed to our horses we find it aids digestion, creates an appetite and the animal improves at once; it is a great conditioner, and a trial will prove its value. We have fed it to our cows and with them also it has proved a great digestive, both the flow and the quality of the milk has improved, the per centage of increase we cannot yet positively state. The food does all you claim in the line of tests we have made; we shall continue its use and advise all the owners of stock to give it a trial.

NOTICE!

HAVING THIS DAY QUALIfied as administrator upon the estate of Neil Watson, deceased, the undersigned hereby gives notice to all persons holding claims against the said estate to present them on or before the 1st day of February, 1891, or this notice will be plead in bar of their recovery. And all persons indebted to the said estate will please make prompt payment.

D. B. NICHOLSON, Adm'r.
January 30th, 1889.—4t.

LOCALS.

—Messrs. W. S. Thomson and J. A. Beaman have purchased the turpentine distillery of Mr. T. L. Pugh.

—Married, on Wednesday, January 22d by Rev. C. P. Jerome, Mr. Willie Turner and Miss Jane Russell, of Clinton.

—The sermon of Dr. Hoge, in the Presbyterian church yesterday morning, was impressive and eloquent simplicity.

—We are pleased to be able to state that Mrs. Fred. T. Atkins and Miss Madge Faison, who have been suffering with aggravated cases of grip, are better.

—Rev. J. W. Turner will preach in St. Paul's Episcopal church on next Sunday, February 2nd, 1890. The Lord's Supper will be celebrated after the sermon.

—We are pleased to announce that a Dress Parade of the Sampson Light Infantry will take place at the College Grounds on Friday, February 7th, at 3 o'clock P. M. The public is cordially invited to attend.

—The Sampson Building and Loan Association is proving to be a very popular enterprise. The great bulk of the citizens of Clinton and several from the country have already taken stock.

—Messrs. Stewart, Hines & Beaman, have another large and improved dry kiln. This one is located at the end of Devane street on the railroad. We understand that they will soon move their planning machines to the same site.

—One of our esteemed subscribers in a letter says: "Much success to you and your high-toned journal. Your Thanksgiving and Christmas issues were perfect gems and every copy is replete with news and editorials so chaste and original."

—The jail is empty. Why are the doors kept closed? Is there danger of any one committing forcible trespass upon the property? Let the doors be thrown open and give the old rickety den an airing. Yes, let its open doors proclaim to the world that crime is on its "outing."

—Mr. Loftin Boykin, one of our most venerable citizens, tells us that so far this winter has not broken the record within the memory of man. He says that the successful rival of the winter 1890 is 1829. The winter was much warmer than this. He says that cotton stalks sprouted from the stubbles, grew up, bloomed and made cotton. The world is probably just a little off again and wabbling promiscuously on its axis.

—Every member of Clinton Lodge, No. 124, I. O. O. F., is requested to be present at a regular meeting of the Order next Monday night, February 3d, as business of much importance will be brought up for the consideration of every member.

—The shingle machine of Messrs. Underwood & Boykin, in South Clinton, about three miles from Clinton, on Coharie, is now at work turning out about 10,000 shingles per day. They are shipping to Baltimore and Philadelphia.

—Capt. Wm. A. Johnson says that he will give a special drill every Thursday night to all the members of the Sampson Light Infantry who can attend. We are sorry that distance will prevent many of the members from taking advantage of this special drill. The untiring zeal which Capt. Johnson is showing on behalf of the company will make it not only proud of itself, but second to no company in the State.

—The new armory of the Sampson Light Infantry was completed yesterday. We feel safe in saying that there is not a company in the whole State Guard that is more elegantly quartered. The armory is 26x96 feet, with 50 lockups, one for the property of each member of the company. The material is native pine, finished in oil. In front of the armory is the cosy office of the Captain. Sampson has a right to be as proud of its company as the company is of its armory.

Clinthi Chapter No. 40 of R. A. M. Reorganized.

By authority of a dispensation granted by M. M. Katz, M. E. G. H. P., of N. C., the surviving members of this Chapter which has been dormant for a quarter of a century were convened by A. F. Johnson last Friday evening and reorganized by the election of the following officers:

Daniel A. Culbreth, H. P.
Amos J. Johnson, K.
J. Wilson, S.
E. Peterson, C. H.
C. P. Johnson, P. S.
W. Daughtry, R. A. C.
J. R. McPhail, G. M. 3d V.
E. G. Ward, G. M. 2nd V.
B. Matthews, G. M. 1st V.
A. Blackburn, Treasurer,
J. A. Oates, Secretary.
J. Dudley, Tyler,

who were duly installed by P. H. P. Thos. G. Carr and the Chapter declared duly re-instated.

The first regular meeting will be held on the first Friday of February next. Many of the members of the Lodge having signified a desire to unite with the Chapter it is confidently expected that it will become one of the most prosperous in this State. Dr. T. B. Carr has consented to remain here several weeks to assist in the good work.

ESTABLISH A BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATION.

Then Renters will Become Owners.

The Raleigh News and Observer says that an enterprising citizen of that city, recognizing the necessity of a desirable class of cheap dwellings, contemplates erecting a number of neat cottages, to be rented at ten dollars a month. There are few of the growing town in North Carolina where neat dwellings at moderate rent are not in demand, and where they might not be built with advantage to the towns, and to the people, and with profit to the builders.—New Berne Journal.

The Town of Tomahawk.

"Tomahawk" is the name of a station on the Cape Fear and Yaddin Valley Railroad, be tween Wilmington and Fayetteville, which was accidentally overlooked when other stations were mentioned in the Star a few days ago. It is in Sampson county, forty miles from Wilmington and forty-two miles from Fayetteville. The place for the depot was selected a few days since, and town lown lots were laid off. A new store and a residence is being built at that place. Trains on the C. F. & Y. V. Railroad pass Tomahawk at 3.05 p. m., going west, and at 1.15 going east.—Wilmington Star.

LISBON.

During the warm weather the limbs of the trees in the mulberry orchard of Mr. R. C. Moore grew about four inches and now have berries hanging on them at least an inch long. By the way Mr. Moore says that he has never lost a piece of meat. He lets the annual heat get thoroughly out before salting. Then packs down in hogshead, flesh side up, using plenty of salt so that it will sure not all melt and let the meattouch. He pours salt around the meat, between it and hogshead and over the top, making the whole perfectly air tight.

Mr. C. G. Robinson recently killed 5 hogs whose agregate weight was 1413 pounds. They all came very near dying with cholera last September.

Mr. Haywood Boykin continues very low with but little hopes of recovery.

Mrs. J. M. Kennedy is seriously ill at the residence o father, Mr. J. P. Parker.

HONEYCUTTS.

On my way to Salem High School I found the little clever fellow H. B. Cooper occupying the store of Mrs. Romelia Butler, who has retired from business on the account of health; on my way futher I met Prof. G. E. Butler, principal of Salem High School, he said the prospects this session were good, that he had about fifteen boarders and expecting more. On my way further, I saw a new building in the branch, a thought struck me that I was going to get a drink, so I concluded to go in and on entering the house I found it was a rice mill and two or three pessels were beating rice and no one about it, I examined the mill and rice. It is the best constructed mill I ever saw, it is run by an over-shot wheel and two cog wheels and it only takes about one inch of water to run the whole thing. I examined the rice after it had been cleaned and it is unbroken and the whitest I ever saw, I understand this mill belongs to Mr. J. C. Howard, I never go in that part of the township but what I find something new. It is an honor to any one to live in that neightbor hood. CAPTAIN.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. Distress after eating, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite, a faint, "all gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels, are some of the more common symptoms. Dyspepsia does not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet surely and efficiently. It tones the stomach and other organs, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, and by thus overcoming the local symptoms removes the sympathetic effects of the disease, banishes the headache, and refreshes the tired mind.

Distress After Eating

Sick Headache

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me little good. In an hour after eating I would experience a faintness, or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. My trouble, I think, was aggravated by my business, which is that of a painter, and from being more or less shut up in a room with fresh paint. Last spring I took Hood's Sarsaparilla—took three bottles. It did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced." A Safe Investment

Is one which is guaranteed to bring you satisfactory results, or in case of failure a return of purchase price. On this safe plan you can buy from our advertised Druggist a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. It is guaranteed to bring relief in every case, when used for any affection of Throat, Lungs or Chest, such as Consumption, Inflammation of Lungs, Bronchitis, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Croup, etc., etc. It is pleasant and agreeable to taste, perfectly safe, and can always be depended upon. Trial bottles free at DR. R. H. HOLLIDAY'S Drugstore.

Attention!

We will advertise free of charge for any articles that may have been lost, misplaced, or taken through mistake at the Sampson Fair last fall. Any one who has lost any article on exhibit will please send us a description of the same and we will try to trace it up.

Merit Wins.

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. For sale by DR. R. H. HOLLIDAY, Druggist.

Beware of Ointment for Catarrh that Contains Mercury, as Mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucus surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do are ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucus surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine, it is taken internally and is made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. ☞ Sold by Druggist, price 75c per bottle.

CONSUMPTIGN SURELY CURED.

TO THE EDITOR—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above named disease. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured. NEW BARBER SHOP.

When you wish an easy shave,
As good as barber ever gave,
Just call on me at my saloon
At morning, eve or noon;
I cut and dress the hair with grace,
To suit the contour of the face.
My room is neat and towels clean,
Scissors sharp and razors keen
And everything I think you'll find;
To suit the face and please the mind,
And all my art and skill can do
If you just call, I'll do for you.

DRUNKENNESS—LIQUOR HABIT—In all the World there is but one cure, Dr. Haines' Golden Specific.

It can be given in a cup of tea or coffee without the knowledge of the person taking it, effecting a speedy and permanent cure, whether the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. Thousands of drunkards have been cured who have taken the Golden Specific in their coffee without their knowledge, and today believe they quit drinking of their own free will. No harmful effect results from its administration. Cures guaranteed. Send for circular and full particulars. Address in confidence, GOLDEN SPECIFIC CO., 185 Race Street, Cincinnati, O.

THE CAUCASIAN.

CLINTON, N. C.—JAN. 30, 1890.

THE UNIVERSITY

Properly Declared to be the Head of the Public School System.

Mr. Chas. D. McIver lectured at the University of North Carolina, in the Chapel Thursday night January 16th, before a large audience on Public Education. He went outside of the cut-and dried speech on this subject so often heard and told facts with which our most intelligent men are too little familiar. He defined the close relationship be between the University of the State and our public schools, they belong to the same system and are supported in the same way. And not until our public schools are better will our colleges be filled with students, because, although we have a good number of preparatory schools, the large majority of children can take only a year at most, only a year at them before going to college on account of lack of means, and if the public schools fail to prepare them this far, they must stay at home. Hence we often hear boys say: "I could go to college if I could get prepared."

Wants to Speak a Good Word.

After suffering untold agonies for three years from rheumatism, and after trying various remedies without effect, I decided to try S. S. S. After taking 8 bottles I was entirely cured. Therefore I cheerfully add mine to the many testimonials which go to prove the great success of S. S. S. as a remedy for those suffering from rheumatism.

JOHN MCDONALD,
McDonald's Mill, Georgia.

Milliken's Bend.

The following extract is taken from a letter received from Mr. William McKain, proprietor of the Madison House, at Tallulah, Madison Parish, La.: "While I was merchandising at Milliken's Bend, in this parish, during the year 1887 and '88, I sold large quantities of Swift's Specific (S. S. S.), and during that time every one that used the medicine was loud in its praise. Among those who were benefitted by S. S. S. was a man—since dead—who had a cancer in its most malignant form. He had spent a small fortune in trying to effect a cure, but without success. After the knife had been used there was still a cancerous taint left in his blood, the wound never healing. I finally persuaded him to try S. S. S., and it alone eradicated the cancer, and he recovered perfect health. From that time until his death, which was several years, a symptom of the disease never returned."

Not a Symptom in Five Years.

I had scrofula in 1884 and entirely cleansed it from my system by taking seven bottles of Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) I have not had any symptoms of it since that time.

RAILROAD NOTES.

One durable, well-made, handsomely finished box-car a day—besides the other work incident al to a great line of travel and traffic—is the output of the work-shops of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railroad at the present time. There are also under the shed several passenger cars which have been recently turned out, repainted, renovated and made comfortable for the increased through travel which may be expected within the next thirty days.—Fayetteville Observer.

Inherited Blood Poison.

How many people there are whose distress from sores, aches, pains and eruptive tendencies are due to inherited blood poison. Bad blood passes from parent to child, and it therefore is the duty of husband and wife to keep their blood pure. This is easily accomplished by a timely use of B. B. B (Botanic Blood Balm). Send to Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga. book of most convincing proof.

James Hill, Atlanta, Ga., writes: "My two sons was were afflicted with blood poison, which doctors said was hereditary. Their both broke out in sores and eruptions which B. B. B. promptly controlled and finally cured completely."

Mrs. S. M. Williams, Sandy, Texas, writes: "My three poor afflicted children, who inherited blood poison, have improved rapidly after a use of B. B. B. It is a Godsend."

J. R. Wilson, Glen Alpine Station, N. C., Feb. 13, 1885, writes: "Bone and blood poison forced me to have my leg amputated, and on the stump there came a large ulcer, which grew worse every day until doctors gave me up to die. I only weighed 120 pounds when I began to take B. B. B., and 12 bottles increased my weight to 180 pounds and made me sound and well. I never knew what good health was before."

Ringing Noises

In the ears, sometimes a roaring buzzing sound are caused by catarrh, that exceedingly disagreeable and very common disease. Loss of smell or hearing also result from catarrh. Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier, is a peculiarly successful remedy for this disease, which it cures by purifying the blood. If you suffer from catarrh, try Hood's Sarsaparilla, the peculiar medicine.

THE NEW YORK SHOP GIRL.

Great Improvements in Her Condition During Recent Years.

It will be remembered that about eight years ago there was a popular demand upon the storekeepers that their women clerks should be treated more like human beings than as mere automatons, that they should be given seats behind the counters on which they could rest themselves, and that they should have some apartment wherein they could retire and secure occasional rest from the constant strain upon their nerves and their bodies. The general clamor for reform in this direction led to a most marked improvement in the way in which these young women were treated. The change came slowly, but it came at last, and now the proprietors of the great stores have made admirable provisions for the comfort of their employes.

It may have been observed by shoppers that there is a marked improvement in the personnel of the girls employed in the big stores. Purchasers are treated with more courtesy, and the interest in the purchaser is so manifest sometimes as to be almost amusing to persons who have been in the habit of shopping in other cities. This is based upon very sound financial reasons. Several of the big shops have entered into an agreement with their employes to give them a certain percentage on their total daily, weekly or monthly sales, small, it is true, in each sale, but in the aggregate a very handsome addition to their salaries. The result of this is a decided eagerness on the part of the clerks to wait upon the customers and an anxiety that they shall be pleased. This is an improvement founded upon the interest of both employer and employes, and gives the latter an interest in their work which deprives it of much of its drudgery.

The question of seats in the stores has been always an important one because of the necessity for room in the aisles between the counters and the confined space within which the clerks are obliged to work. But an ingenious inventor solved the problem by providing a queer little stool, which resembles an artist's sketching stool in many respects, though more solid and comfortable. This in many stores is hinged to the lower part of the counter, and the rules of the store permit any clerk when she is not actually engaged in a sale to use these stools at will. As most of the shopping is done between 11 a. m. and 4 p. m., this would seem to give the clerks five full hours during which there is little chance for rest, but this is obviated in this way: The clerks in each department are divided into what on shipboard would be known as "watches." During the busy hours in a department where there are fifteen clerks not more than twelve are, with few exceptions, behind the counter at once. But these twelve are understood to do the full work of the fifteen, so that at hourly or fifteen minute intervals they may in turn have a rest.

Formerly the clerks were compelled to get a bite to eat whenever they could between the customers' demands. Now, however, things are changed so that each girl or set of girls has a half hour in which they may eat their meal in quiet. Not only this, but in the big stores a room is provided for them with tables and condiments where they have almost as many comforts as they would have at home. These rooms are usually in the basements, for the employers are compelled as a rule to utilize every bit of space above ground that they can secure, but they are kept clean and comfortable by women who also care for the cleanliness of the main store. There is, however, one exception, in a great store in Fourteenth street, in which the clerks are not obliged to go below ground to eat their luncheons. Here they are given a big apartment upstairs, where they have all the fresh air they desire, and also the opportunity to obtain warm food from the adjacent restaurant.

So far as the accommodations for storing wraps and any little valuables which the clerks may have some desire to keep in safety while they are attending to their duties, they are provided in most stores by small rooms where these things may be kept under lock and key, and which answer at the same time as dressing rooms, where the clerks may keep a store dress, and in the morning change their street costume for it, to a very manifest saving of the latter.

The routine of the employment of persons in the great stores is based to a great extent upon civil service principles. The department chief is selected because of his or her peculiar fitness for the position. But none of these vice regents of the proprietor is given power of dismissal over an employe who has been more than a year in the store. Each one of these has the right to be heard, and if the excuses are satisfactory the person complaining must give good reasons before they are discharged. Another thing that goes far toward making the shop-girl more content with her lot is that in several of the stores her wages are yearly increased in proportion to her time of service.—New York Times.

A Chemical Ballet.

At a banquet which was given at the conclusion of the German congress of naturalists and physicians at Cologne, Dr. Hoffman alluded to the difficulty experienced by students in understanding the constitution of organic compounds, and suggested an original method of fixing these in their minds. The audience was then treated to a ballet in which the dancers were dressed in different colors, to represent the various atoms. At his command these colored female atoms grouped themselves in various fashions to show the chemical constitution of particular compounds and their reactions. The composition of benzole, and the formation of aniline and its derivatives, were particularly applauded. The ballet wound up by a representation of the formula for roburite—the new explosive—the finale being a formidable explosion.—Annals of Hygiene.

A Good Boy.

"Been around town any, sir?" asked a bootblack of a man waiting at the Detroit and Milwaukee depot the other day.

"No, bub, I haven't," was the reply.

"Shan't I call a carriage for you?"

"No. I've no money to pay for such luxuries."

"Can't blow in $2?"

"Not even two shilling, my boy."

"Humph! That's too bad. If I only had a key to the police box I'd ring for the patrol wagon and let you have a ride and see some of the business streets for nothing."—Detroit Free Press.

Artificial Diamonds.

The diamond trade is much interested in the remarkable artificial diamonds which came into notice during the Paris exposition. So perfect are some of the imitations that they puzzle dealers and experts. By the same chemical analysis as applied to precious stones they are found to melt at only a very high degree of heat, and, of course, were exceedingly hard—in fact, so hard that they would scratch, and almost cut mirror glass.—Court Journal.

A FRENCH DUDE FISHING.

The Gallic Idea of Sport Typified in a Parisian Fiacater.

I shall never forget a fellow I saw one day last summer, just outside of Paris, fishing in the Seine.

To prelude, the laws are very strict over there in regard to fishing and shooting. The seasons open and shut like a jack knife with a snap, and woe to the transgressor. On a certain day in July, I think, the season opens, and long before daylight of the day the banks of the river all along the Bois de Boulogne are lined with fishermen sitting side by side, almost elbow to elbow. I strolled down to the river one day and witnessed the sport. Taking out a cigar I paid a woman two sous for a chair, and sat down to get a wrinkle in French fishing. For half an hour all sat in silence with not a movement. Presently one fellow had a nibble. Immediately every eye was turned on the little red float on his line. The float moved perceptibly. The man, with every nerve strained and eyes riveted on the float, breathless with excitement, watched. The float dipped again. The man pulled, and the cork came to the surface, but no fish. All along the line of fishermen there was an ejaculation of "Ah!" The disappointed fisherman put on a fresh piece of bait and waited. Presently the fish took hold again; and this time he had him. Carefully he worked him in to the bank, and an attendant slipped a delicate landing net under the fish and carried him up the bank. There was a cry all along the line of fifty or more fishermen of "Bon, bon, tres joli." Several laid down their rods and gathered around the basket, lined with leaves, in which the fish was carefully placed. He was a monster, nearly six inches long, and must have weighed about four ounces. Then all went at it again with renewed hope and courage.

Presently a cab drove up and there descended from it a dude in an elaborate sporting costume—eyeglasses and a broad brimmed hat. Walking leisurely to the bank, a man who had evidently been sent ahead to secure a position vacated. A servant brought from the cab a folding stool and placed it on the bank; returning to the cab he produced a delicate rod and satchel. The rod was put together; the satchel was opened and a small silver bait box, a towel, a piece of soap and a bowl were placed on another stool alongside.

The servant opened an umbrella and held it over the fisherman's head to screen him from the sun and the fishing began. It was a long wait for a bite. Finally there was a nibble and miss; several more nibbles and misses, and presently there was a fish, sure enough. The excitement all along the bank was intense. With the aid of the landing net the fish was secured. The servant essayed to take it off the hook, but the fisherman anticipated him and held it up in triumph. But this operation wet the dude's gloves, and he took them off and threw them away.

Things were getting interesting and exciting, and blank the expense. Presently another fish, which, being secured, the servant dipped up water from the river and handed the dude the soap and towel; and he washed his hands. This was repeated every time he caught a fish. All this time a gendarme had been walking up and down, and approaching the lucky fisherman there followed an animated conversation with much gesticulating, seemingly a protest against such indiscriminate slaughter.

The dude waxed indignant and quit. The servant unjointed the rod, gathered up the stools, umbrella and fish basket and placed them in the cab, which had been waiting. The dude entered and was driven off with his catch, numbering about six, the aggregate weight of which might have been two pounds—an immense success. I have no doubt this great catch made an item in next morning's paper, with the usual lie about the weight of the string and the big one that was lost.

I had learned how the French do it. Evidently a little fishing goes a long way with a Frenchman. No doubt my little man went home, took a rose water bath and lay down for a rest after such a fatiguing and exciting episode. I though to myself how I would like to get that chap out in the Rockies on a thorn bush creek, of a hot day, and make him wade the stream, with an occasional stumble over a slippery bowlder and a souse under. What a power of good it would do him, and what fun for me!—Forest and Stream.

The Thumb Ring.

It has taken a long while for the thumb ring to make any headway in New York, but it is very slowly gaining ground. Mr. Dixey was the first man to wear a ring upon his thumb, and he has clung to it tenaciously for two years. It is a plain gold band, worn just below the joint, and it was placed there at first merely as a lark. It excited so much talk among the people who knew the burlesque actor that he has refused to take the ring off and has worn it ever since. Actors always have a certain following among young men whose brains are not of dangerous weight and who are capable of devoting their energies to small things. The small things have taken the form of a thumb ring, and there is a very considerable portion of rather young men about town who are following Mr. Dixey's example.—New York Sun.

Business Is Business.

Life Insurance Agent (out west)—What did Mr. Newcomer say?

Assistant—He wouldn't talk with me at all; said he was too busy to think about life insurance.

"Well, I'll hang around his house to-night and shoot holes through his windows, and when he comes down town in the morning you hide behind a fence in some vacant lot and put a few balls through the top of his hat. Then when he reaches his office I'll drop in and talk life insurance again."—New York Weekly.

Army Life Is Not an Easy One.

The supposition that army life is an easy one is a civilian's delusion. No occupation on earth is more exacting. The reveille is sounded at daylight, and the soldier must be up and ready. Between reveille in the morning and "taps," at 9:30 at night, he has to attend the majority of thirty-three bugle calls, and he is on his feet most of the time till "retreat" at sunset. The officers are busy at nearly all times over new military problems. They are called to mount and manage new artillery that would have struck dire dismay into armies like those of Cæsar, Hannibal or Alexander. Today war is a science, requiring all the skill of the best navigators, the most able engineers and the finest electricians. All the known means of defense and destruction are availed of, even down to the last electric triumph, the telephone.—Baltimore American.

An Objection.

"Mamma," said Harry, as he walked into the parlor with a rebellious air, "I ain't going to have light hair any more."

"Why not?" asked his mother.

"Cause it ain't useful. You can't wipe your pen on it 'thout its leaving streaks.—Merchant Traveler.
